

© ANTONIO SABA

➔ The rooftop of L'Oiseau Blanc restaurant is one of the summer hot spots in Paris while the Terrasse Kléber presents the latest culinary trends from the West Coast with Chef David Codney. Below, the lavish decor of Le Bar Kléber.

PALACE

THE PENINSULA PARIS

The Best of two worlds

The Peninsula Paris is shining among the top of the line hotels in Paris. This summer, it unveils three terraces dedicated to bring dining experiences to new heights.

Tenth hotel of the prestigious Peninsula group, famous for the excellence of its establishments, The Peninsula Paris shines in the firmament of luxury Parisian hotels. The building on avenue Kléber is splendid indeed, both in its exceptional dimensions and in the choice of extremely high-luxury materials used. The 200 rooms including 86 suites – some of them with a terrace – are the very essence of refinement and technology with a hotel automation system developed by the group – the only one of its kind in the world. There are three restaurants in this palace of marble and mosaics overseen by executive Chef Christophe Raoux. The LiLi, is the new temple of Cantonese cuisine in Paris, while the gourmet restaurant L'Oiseau Blanc offers a breathtaking view of the Eiffel Tower from its rooftop terrace. This Summer, a California breeze will flow over the French capital. David Codney, executive Chef at the Peninsula Beverly Hills has teamed up with Chef Christophe Raoux to present on the Terrasse Kléber restaurant the latest culinary trends from the West Coast. Another heavenly surprised awaits foodies with a gastronomic dinner on a private rooftop terrace located on the 7th floor! This unique dining experience is the most romantic way to enjoy Paris and to dine under a canopy of stars. Wellbeing is also part of the Peninsula worldwide reputation. East meets West at the 1,800 sq.m. spa well-known for its spectacular 20-meter swimming pool. In this haven of relaxation guest can enjoy facial cares from the high end french brand Biologique Recherche or Qi Gong classes and beauty treatments from the exclusive Cha Ling L'Esprit du Thé brand. After being pampered, no one can resist to the healthy menu inspired by Asian cuisine. Another distinguishing feature of The Peninsula Paris is the service, whose excellence in the group's Asian hotels is already legendary. In fact, the French teams were trained in Hong Kong to the unique standards of quality demanded by the Peninsula Group. No other hotel in Paris offers a full fleet of cars for the use of guests: ten BMW Series 7s and two bespoke Mini Cooper S Clubman, as well as two Rolls-Royces (a Phantom and a Phantom II vintage). At The Peninsula Paris, luxury knows no bounds... for the greater delight of its guests. ■

■ The Peninsula Paris.

19, avenue Kléber, Paris 16th. Tel. +33 (0)1 58122888.
<http://peninsula.com/paris>